Preface

These Philippine Bidding Documents (PBDs) for the procurement of Goods through Competitive Bidding have been prepared by the Government of the Philippines for use by any branch, constitutional commission or office, agency, department, bureau, office, or instrumentality of the Government of the Philippines, National Government Agencies, including Government-Owned and/or Controlled Corporations, Government Financing Institutions, State Universities and Colleges, and Local Government Unit. The procedures and practices presented in this document have been developed through broad experience, and are for mandatory use in projects that are financed in whole or in part by the Government of the Philippines or any foreign government/foreign or international financing institution in accordance with the provisions of the 2016 revised Implementing Rules and Regulations of Republic Act No. 9184.

The Bidding Documents shall clearly and adequately define, among others: (i) the objectives, scope, and expected outputs and/or results of the proposed contract or Framework Agreement, as the case may be; (ii) the eligibility requirements of Bidders; (iii) the expected contract or Framework Agreement duration, the estimated quantity in the case of procurement of goods, delivery schedule and/or time frame; and (iv) the obligations, duties, and/or functions of the winning bidder.

Care should be taken to check the relevance of the provisions of the PBDs against the requirements of the specific Goods to be procured. If duplication of a subject is inevitable in other sections of the document prepared by the Procuring Entity, care must be exercised to avoid contradictions between clauses dealing with the same matter.

Moreover, each section is prepared with notes intended only as information for the Procuring Entity or the person drafting the Bidding Documents. They shall not be included in the final documents. The following general directions should be observed when using the documents:

- a. All the documents listed in the Table of Contents are normally required for the procurement of Goods. However, they should be adapted as necessary to the circumstances of the particular Procurement Project.
- b. Specific details, such as the “name of the Procuring Entity” and “address for bid submission,” should be furnished in the Instructions to Bidders, Bid Data Sheet, and Special Conditions of Contract. The final documents should contain neither blank spaces nor options.
- c. This Preface and the footnotes or notes in italics included in the Invitation to Bid, Bid Data Sheet, General Conditions of Contract, Special Conditions of Contract, Schedule of Requirements, and Specifications are not part of the text of the final document, although they contain instructions that the Procuring Entity should strictly follow.

- d. The cover should be modified as required to identify the Bidding Documents as to the Procurement Project, Project Identification Number, and Procuring Entity, in addition to the date of issue.
- e. Modifications for specific Procurement Project details should be provided in the Special Conditions of Contract as amendments to the Conditions of Contract. For easy completion, whenever reference has to be made to specific clauses in the Bid Data Sheet or Special Conditions of Contract, these terms shall be printed in bold typeface on Sections I (Instructions to Bidders) and III (General Conditions of Contract), respectively.
- f. For guidelines on the use of Bidding Forms and the procurement of Foreign-Assisted Projects, these will be covered by a separate issuance of the Government Procurement Policy Board.

Section VII. Technical Specifications

Notes for Preparing the Technical Specifications

A set of precise and clear specifications is a prerequisite for Bidders to respond realistically and competitively to the requirements of the Procuring Entity without qualifying their Bids. In the context of Competitive Bidding, the specifications (e.g. production/delivery schedule, manpower requirements, and after-sales service/parts, descriptions of the lots or items) must be prepared to permit the widest possible competition and, at the same time, present a clear statement of the required standards of workmanship, materials, and performance of the goods and services to be procured. Only if this is done will the objectives of transparency, equity, efficiency, fairness, and economy in procurement be realized, responsiveness of bids be ensured, and the subsequent task of bid evaluation and post-qualification facilitated. The specifications should require that all items, materials and accessories to be included or incorporated in the goods be new, unused, and of the most recent or current models, and that they include or incorporate all recent improvements in design and materials unless otherwise provided in the Contract.

Samples of specifications from previous similar procurements are useful in this respect. The use of metric units is encouraged. Depending on the complexity of the goods and the repetitiveness of the type of procurement, it may be advantageous to standardize the General Technical Specifications and incorporate them in a separate subsection. The General Technical Specifications should cover all classes of workmanship, materials, and equipment commonly involved in manufacturing similar goods. Deletions or addenda should then adapt the General Technical Specifications to the particular procurement.

Care must be taken in drafting specifications to ensure that they are not restrictive. In the specification of standards for equipment, materials, and workmanship, recognized Philippine and international standards should be used as much as possible. Where other particular standards are used, whether national standards or other standards, the specifications should state that equipment, materials, and workmanship that meet other authoritative standards, and which ensure at least a substantially equal quality than the standards mentioned, will also be acceptable. The following clause may be inserted in the Special Conditions of Contract or the Technical Specifications.

Sample Clause: Equivalency of Standards and Codes

Wherever reference is made in the Technical Specifications to specific standards and codes to be met by the goods and materials to be furnished or tested, the provisions of the latest edition or revision of the relevant standards and codes shall apply, unless otherwise expressly stated in the Contract. Where such standards and codes are national or relate to a particular country or region, other authoritative standards that ensure substantial equivalence to the standards and codes specified will be acceptable.

Reference to brand name and catalogue number should be avoided as far as possible; where unavoidable they should always be followed by the words "or at least equivalent." References to brand names cannot be used when the funding source is the GOP.

Where appropriate, drawings, including site plans as required, may be furnished by the Procuring Entity with the Bidding Documents. Similarly, the Supplier may be requested to provide drawings or samples either with its Bid or for prior review by the Procuring Entity during contract execution.

Bidders are also required, as part of the technical specifications, to complete their statement of compliance demonstrating how the items comply with the specification.

For Direct Manual Retrieval, downloading of data from the machine shall be achieved using a laptop or notebook computer, personal data assistant (PDA), or a memory stick device that uses an industry standard communication protocol and have sufficient memory to download the full of the data logger without copying the files to a host computer.

Manual Retrieval via wireless shall download data from the machine using wireless connection, which shall:

- a. Use an industry standard communication protocol (e.g. Bluetooth)
- b. Download the collected data files
- c. Delete downloaded data files
- d. Operate within 50 meters from the device
- e. Be license exempt for its application

Remote transmission via telephony shall make the complete operation of the machine available via software residing on a personal computer operating remotely via fixed land lines, GSM, GPRS, 3G/4G data, mesh wireless. Functions to include, but not limited to, are:

The temporary ATC is to be used outdoors. Accordingly, the entire system shall be sufficiently protected against heat of sunlight, rain, wind, dust, electric surge, lightning and other harmful action it receives when used outdoors. Where necessary, appropriate cover(s) for the equipment or any other device as well as two (2) locks and two (2) ruggedized chains for protecting the equipment from theft shall be provided.

Commissioning

The supplier shall be responsible for commissioning of the ATC including data processor, sensor, and other associated devices within 60 days of delivery.

Road Traffic Sensor

The ATC shall work with any or combination of the following road traffic sensors for the purpose of detecting vehicles passing through it:

1. Piezoelectric axle sensors

Piezoelectric axle sensors collect data by converting mechanical energy into electrical energy. The piezoelectric sensor is mounted in a groove cut into road's surface. When a car drives over the piezoelectric axle sensor, it squeezes it and causes a voltage signal. The size of the signal is proportional to the degree of deformation. When the car moves off, the voltage reverses. This change in voltage can be used to detect and classify vehicles.

Construction Requirements

Safety of road users through a suitable worksite traffic management shall be considered for the entire duration of the installation. Temporary roadworks signs and traffic control devices to be used shall adhere with the provisions of existing Department manuals, issuances, and policies.

For permanent locations with inductive loop vehicle detector system and/or piezoelectric axle sensors, the sensors shall be fixed in a groove cut on the pavement in accordance with ASTM E 2561 - Standard Test Method for Environmental Stress-Crack Resistance of BlowMolded Polyethylene Containers for inductive loops and ASTM E 2415 - Standard Practice for Installing Piezoelectric Highway Traffic Sensors for piezoelectric sensors. It shall be functionally intact after loading of 10,000,000 times vehicles of mixed traffic. The design of the sensors shall prevent reversed assembly or improper installation. The sensors shall operate in a temperature range from 0 to 50 degrees Celsius.

Delivery, Storage and Handling

The ATC system shall be delivered, handled and stored as recommended by the manufacturer, together with the following provisions:

1. All components of the entire system shall be transported, handled, and stored carefully in such a way which avoids any physical damage.
2. It shall be inspected upon delivery and any damage shall be reported immediately to the Engineer.
3. Any component damaged during delivery, storage or installation shall be marked and set aside.
4. Proposals for repair of any damaged component shall be submitted in writing to the Engineer for approval.
5. No repairs to damaged component shall be attempted without the Engineer's approval.
6. Any damaged component deemed unsuitable for repair as suggested by the Engineer shall be removed from site and replaced at the Contractor's expense.

Calibration and Acceptance Testing

Final acceptance of the system shall be based upon successful completion of the calibration procedures at the required accuracy and confidence level.

Axle Sensor Based Technology

The survey equipment shall be validated at each site against a number of reference vehicles. This shall be done by measuring the reference vehicles axle spacing and confirming the axle spacings are correctly measured by the recording equipment and that they are placed in the correct vehicle classification bins by the equipment.

Vehicle speed measurement accuracy should be better than +5% coefficient of variation (COV) with an appropriate distribution around the mean value.

Inter axle spacing measurement accuracy should be better than +5% (COV) with an appropriate distribution around the mean value.

Traffic volume counts shall be +5% (COV) with an appropriate distribution around the mean value.

The vehicle classification system shall comply with the tender requirements. This shall be validated by observing vehicles visually and then confirming that they are correctly identified by the traffic classifier. Careful attention shall be paid to motorcycles and multi-axle vehicles as these are the most commonly misclassified. No more than 5% of the traffic volumes shall be misclassified.

Warranty

As each sub-component which makes up the ATC systems may come from different suppliers with different warranties, a minimum warranty period of one (1) year is recommended for all components after final acceptance.

The supplier should warrant that the supplied equipment is free from defective materials and agrees to remedy any defects or to furnish a new part in exchange for any part supplied which, under normal installation, use and service discloses such defect, provided that the unit is examined by the factory or authorized agent. All transportation charges should be paid by the supplier, including those of the Department returning the parts. If the equipment failure within the warranty period, the supplier should supply replacement within a specified period.
